rather to record what is known regarding the family and descendants of Christian Strite of Lancaster, Dauphin and Franklin Counties, Pennsylvania and Washington County, Maryland. Due to time and space it was decided to complete this volume of the record at this time. It is hoped that this record will provide a nucleus of vital information concerning the present and past generations and that the future generations will build upon it. We are looking forward to the time when separate volumes of this history will be compiled and published for each 'Branch' of this family also for the first known Streit family in America.

The first Streit family in America that there is record of is Kristian Streit and his wife and five children that came to this country from Switzerland, and Germany in the year 1709. There is some evidence that the Christian Strite of this history is a descendant of the first Streit family, however, this is not a legally proven fact at this date (September 1, 1962). It would be interesting, too, if the historical and genealogical information were published of the brothers of Christian Strite namely JOSEPH, JACOB, and HENRY.

THE STRITE FAMILY

Among the early settlers in Pennsylvania, of German origin were four brothers of the Strite Family from The Palinate, Bavaria, Germany. The first records of the Christian Strite family were found in the Pennsylvania Archives, 3rd series, vol. 17, page 774. The assessors returns for the year of 1773 shows Christian Strite was assessed on ten acres of land, in Manheim Township in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Searches in the old deed books in the Lancaster County Court House in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, record the transfers of several parcels of property between Christian (Streid) Streit and Martha Gebson, 1785; Jacob Mayer 250 acres in 1786; Christian Strite and wife Barbara to Henry Bates Grubb 24 acres in 1796.

The will of Christian Strite is recorded in the Dauphin County Court House in the Will Book D., Vol. 1 Page 315. The will was made on the 12th of December, 1822 and proved on the 27th of October 1823. In addition to the usual disposition of property (real and personal) he mentions the names of his wife Barbara and the following children: Sons, John and Christian; daughters, Anna Maria, intermarried with Johannes Conrad; Maria, intermarried with John Sarver; Catherine, intermarried with Christian Leshner; Magdalena; and Barbara. Christian Strite was married first to Mary M. Myers and there were seven children born to this union. They were born in the following order: Anna Maria, John, Elizabeth, Maria, Catherine, Magdalena, and Christian. Christian Strite married the second time Barbara Shares. There was one child born to this union, Barbara.

The farm where Christian Strite lived was in Derry Twp., Dauphin County and part of it was in Lancaster County. It consisted of 187 acres. The farm was later purchased by a man by the name of Geyer.

Christian Strite served in the army during the Revolutionary War.

In 1892 Mr. Gabriel Conrad married Mary Ann Kanaval, a descendent of the original settler's of the area, John Forsyth (Forsythe). At the time of their marriage Mary Ann was living near the old Forsyth Manor homestead which was built in 1732, and is still standing and is in use today (1963). Mr. John Forsyth was a descendent of Charles Edouard Forsythe, a scion of the Forsythe family of Edinburgh Scotland. This Forsythe family had been forced to leave Scotland about the year of 1560 because of policitcal and religious problems. Charles Edouard Forsyth was forced to leave France in the year 1642 as a Huguenot having become embroiled in the religious difficulties that were causing much trouble in France at that time. He barely escaped with his life; he lost all of his property. He emigrated to the United States having heard that religious freedom was being guaranteed to people of all faiths.

According to family tradition, the original settler of Lane's Run area, John Forsyth, came up the Potomac River in a conoe, and selected Lane's Run for a homesite, because of the good soil, ample water for power and other uses also its fine timber. He traded with the Indian chief in the area for three thousand acres of land. The transaction was recorded in the French language and Indian picture writing by burning a "Deed" on a piece of deer skin with a hot iron. Later he married the chief's daughter, Zula. The ceremonies incident to the purchase to the land were conducted under an oak tree by a spring near the Forsyth Manor house. The tree, called the "Indian Tree" by our family, is still standing today.

At the time of Gabriel Luther Conrad's marriage to Mary Ann Kanavel he was thirty-three years old, and she was nineteen. They were the parents of eight children (in the following order named).

Mr. and Mrs. John Strite started housekeeping in Lancaster County. On the 11th of April, 1797, he purchased from Henry Snell in Washington County, Maryland, 137 1/2 acres of land at the consideration of '1,375 of which amount he paid '600 in cash and executed a mortgage for the remainder. This land is now owned by Adin Strite. His ancestor, John Strite lived there for twenty years, gradually extinguishing the mortgage on his farm and accumulating a surplus for future acquisition. On the 8th of January, 1817, he purchased from Alexander Claggett 282 acres of land, now embracing the farms of Adin Horst and Lewis Horst. For this he paid $60.00 per acre, and here again he became deeply involved in debt, but through the indulgence of his creditors and his own good business management he eventually succeeded in discharging all his obligations. Here he resided until his death. He was one of the pioneers in the later German immigration to Washington County from York and Lancaster Counties in Pennsylvania. Like the majority of those who followed him, he was a Mennonite in faith, and in the closing years of his life, when the membership of this communion had become sufficiently numerous in this locality to warrant the organization of a congregation and the erection of a church, he was an active promoter and liberal supporter of this movement, serving as one of the first trustees and as member of the building committee of Millers Church.

Father died 21, November 1840, near Leitersburg, Washington County, Maryland; buried 24, November 1840, in Millers Church Cemetery, Washington County, Md.

Mother died 4, May 1844, near Leitersburg Washington County, Md; buried 7, May 1844, in Millers Church Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Strite lived near New Franklin, Pa., during the war of 1863. It was in June 20, 1863, when he was taken out of the house from his family who was guarded by one of the three rebels and shot him in the farmyard and buried him in the manure and then they came in to take the mother out and kill her, but Sarah, one of the daughters, knew where he had his money (which they were after) and told them where it was. They would not wait until she unlocked the door but took their saber and split the old clock door, where the money was, and left with the money. In a few minutes three union soldiers came along and carried him in the house and started after the rebels. It was reported that they caught them and hung them in Shetters woods, some distance away. This left the mother with six children. Barbara, who found her father, lost her mind and never talked again. She spent her last years just leafing through books. The date on the clock was 1760, and is now in possession of Edgar Strite in Maugansville, Md.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Compiling and publishing a work of this kind demands dedicated service from those who work with it. Many there are who never receive commendation beyond a passing thanks for the work they do. Their satisfaction lies in knowing that they have given their best and have aided in making a contribution to the many readers of this book.

With gratitude we acknowledge the sincerity of Mr. Abraham C. Strite, Attorney at Law in Hagerstown, Md., for initiating this work in the year of 1910.

Also to Mr. Samuel C. Strite, Attorney at Law in Hagerstown, Md., for so carefully preserving the records of his father and making them available for this record.

To Mrs. John Wiltshire Homer of Greencastle, Penna., for her contribution of records of the Conrad Family.

To Mrs. John Thompson Conrad for preserving and making available for the record, the original Family Bible of the Johannes and Anna Maria (Strite) Conrad family.

To the late Mr. George Seilhamer for preserving the records of the Christian and Catherine (Strite) Leshner families, recorded in his book, "Biographical Annals of Franklin County, Penna."

Also for the Leitersburg History by Bell and the Williams History of Washington County, and other family histories and family Bibles.

This information was also gathered from cemeteries, graveyards, and by contacting lots of people in their homes.

We had very good cooperation in general from those interviewed, for which we are very grateful.

And to all other persons not mentioned that contributed to this work we are equally as grateful.

Carl E. Robinson

Amos W. Strite
